"For too long, politicians have put party and special interests over the people of the Central Valley. I'm working hard every day, serving our Central Valley families and putting people first."

FOR THE CENTRAL VALLEY

TJ is a native Californian and the son of immigrants who taught him the importance of hard work, personal integrity, and fighting for what's right.

TJ founded the Central Valley Fund, which raised money for projects located in economically disadvantaged neighborhoods throughout the Central Valley — helping build health clinics, job-training centers, affordable housing, and clean energy plants. These projects created more than 1,500 well-paying jobs and have brought health care to over 40,000 Central Valley residents.
